MALARIA.

Malaria is an almost indescribable malady, which not even the most talented physicians are able to athem. Its cause is most frequently ascribed to local surroundings, and there is very little question but this opinion is substantiated by facts. Malaria essarily mean chilis and fever, while des usually accompany it. It often affects the sufferer with general lassitude, accompanied by loss of appetite, sleeplessness, a tired feeling, and a high fever, the person afflicted growing weaker and weaker, loses flesh day after day until be becomes a mere skeleton-a shadow of his for-

Malaria once having laid its hold upon the human maiaria once as and a and as not upon the human frame, the door of the system is thrown open to nervous diseases. The body weak and enfeshed absorbs no nourishment, but subsisting upon itself. The digestive organs no longer perform their functions; the liver becomes torpid, and other organs, failing to do their routine work, specifity become disordered, and dissolution and death are apt to consider.

Another Bright Occasion at the Rawley Springs, in Which, It May Be Inferred, Richmond Beauty Carries Off the Palm-Who Were There and What They Wore.

AUGUST 25, 1882. To the Editor of the Dispatch :

As Richmond is so well represented at Rawley Springs I thought your readers night be interested in hearing of the fancey ball which took place here last night, in which so many of your fair representatives.

The improvements at Richmond College are going ahead on a grand scale. When completed the building will be much more capacious and vastly improved in appear.

A fellow went to see the Governor one day, when the following colloquy took place:

"Helio!" howled the man standing at the State-house gate. "Hello up there, is ay!" sample of the appreciation of Richmond to the State-house gate. "Hello up there, is ay!" sample of the appreciation of Richmond to the Governor, looking from the window.

"What's the matter?" demanded the Governor, looking from the window.

"Will your dogs bite?"

"Got no dogs. Come up."

"Hanks or encouragement to try it again.
On the contrary, it is very evident that his labors were not appreciated, as all the communications on this subject has suggested that the 1882 paralle be turned over to somebody else to manage. This is a fair sample of the appreciation of Richmond to the few—yes, very few—public-spirited citizens she has. Plenty of people want to see the city grow, and complain and croak because it don't grow as fast as some other cities with less natural advantages do, but never give or do anything the great need of thorough preparatory work, special arrangements are made for small that the 1882 paralle be turned over to somebody else to manage.
